Navigating courses, planning ahead, and staying on track for graduation can bring plenty of questions, and HEDI students now have another resource to help. ITLS student Anna Oborn is taking on the role of HEDI Peer Advisor, supporting undergraduate students throughout the Human Experience Design and Interaction program. As a senior in HEDI, Anna brings firsthand experience with the program's courses and structure. She can help students create academic plans, answer questions about the HEDI program, and navigate their path toward graduation. More than anything, Anna is excited to be a familiar and approachable resource for fellow students. Whether you have a quick question or want help thinking through your next steps in the program, stop by and connect with her! Anna is available in the ITLS office on Mondays and Tuesdays.
